Gamage, K. A., Silva, E. K. D., & Gunawardhana, N. (2020). Online delivery and assessment during COVID-19: Safeguarding academic integrity. Education Sciences, 10(11), 301.

According to the article, academic integrity is the highest standard that students should uphold. A student should never submit work from another class without citing it properly. Likewise, a student should never allow another student to copy their work or answer an exam. They must also follow all guidelines for citations and statistics. Using plagiarism software is a big step in ensuring academic integrity, so professors should keep up with the latest developments.
